Dear Parents,

You may have seen in the last couple of days a story appear on the BBC Suffolk website about investment in schools, with Martlesham Primary Academy being noted as one of those schools.

To confirm, the school and REACH2 Academy Trust have for a number of months been exploring different funding routes to secure the money needed to improve the school site. We are delighted to confirm that initial discussions have started with the local authority to secure funding to improve the school buildings. This could mean the school will grow if there is clear evidence of need for new school places.

At this stage we must stress discussions have only just started, with a feasibility study likely to begin in the early part of this year. No dates are yet known around when works will start to the site but please be assured we will look to keep parents updated on any developments.

Yours faithfully,

Emma Churchman
