Moment of the Week:

Small Blues visited Easton Farm Park on Wednesday as part of their theme 'Guardians of the Earth!' They were very lucky to be able to meet and cuddle two week old lambs, and learnt about how to care for them. They were also able to meet a sheep, goat, rabbits and guinea pigs and learn about the different needs these animals have. Everybody had a brilliant day meeting and getting up close with all the animals.

Maths Morning

It was wonderful to see so many parents join their children for Thursday's maths morning. Problem solving and reasoning are a priority for the school as we develop these core skills. There was a wonderful buzz in the school as children and parents worked together.

Marvellous Middles

Adonis Blues baked melt in the middle chocolate cakes. The melting in the middle represented the lava flowing out of a volcano. The children loved eating their creations.

Chalk Hill Blues created their own mountains. They collaborated on design and then built and decorated their cardboard mountains. They look absolutely amazing.

Silver Studded Blues studied the Northern Lights (Aurora Borealis) before creating a picture using soft pastels, blending colours, creating silhouettes and water reflections. It was very messy but a lot of fun.

Mrs Mitchell

We are delighted Mrs Mitchell is back supporting Chalk Hill Blues on a Thursday morning. This is until the end of June as Mrs Gifford is supporting Holly Blues whilst Mrs Dodwell completes her THRIVE Practitioner training.

Manners

This week we have been reminding children of the importance of manners. Holding doors open for others, saying you are welcome after a thank you, saying good morning and asking how the person is. There has been such a noticeable change and as a reward all children had extra playtime on Friday morning.

Good To Be Green

Last half term 92% of the children were green all week. This is amazing and something we are very proud of. We manage behaviour positively and ensure children receive rewards. We did notice some rough play incidents at lunchtime however and are supporting the children with positive play. Miss Churchman has been outside every day this week and she has seen the children playing some wonderful games together.

World Book Day - Thursday 2 March

On Thursday Children have been asked to dress as a WORD and to enter the Extreme Reading Challenge competition by bringing in a photo of them reading in an unusual place. We are very excited to see everyone's ideas and photos. In addition, Carol and the catering team will be serving a special menu, which will be shared with the Friday Flyer.

Comic Relief Red Nose Day - Friday 17 March

Friday 17 March will be a dress down day with an optional donation for Comic Relief. More details to follow.
