March 2024

Welcome to our Easter edition of our Eco newsletter.

Eco Day 2024

Eco day last year was such a super success we cannot wait for our next one! This will take place in the next half term in May.

The theme this year is going to be 'Endangered Animals here and abroad'.

I will be sending a letter home closer to the time with more information of what our day will involve.

Green Flag Application

We are nearly to the time when our Green Flag application can be submitted. I am still looking for any 'evidence' of children working on Eco/nature-based activities at home or at clubs. This can be in the form of the child popping me a note or or picture of what they have done, a parent emailing in or simply a photo.

This would be amazing and help us gain those extra points.

Last year we achieved, not only the Green Flag for the first time, but with Merit. I would love this to be the case again this year.

We have been unable to erect our flagpole at this time because of the planned building works needing access but hopefully by the end of the summer our flag will be flying proudly at our gates!

New Murals

We are now working on some new murals for the school walls. We have dismantled the ones from last year and this year's council have come up with some new designs. We will have these finished and displayed in the learning area after the Easter break.

Easter Recycling

Please remember after eating all of those yummy Easter eggs to pop the foil and cardboard in your blue bins!

Finally.....

Have a wonderful Easter Holiday
